Dear Globe Readers,

The Boston Globe is in crisis.

Talented journalists are leaving. Workplace protections are being threatened.

The future of the Boston Globe is at risk under the ownership of Linda Pizzuti Henry and John Henry. Reporters risked their health throughout the pandemic to bring subscribers top-quality news. Management sought to implement workplace policies that are helping drain the newsroom of some of its most talented staff.

Behind closed doors, subscriber money is being wasted on proposals to strip fair protections from the journalists who bring you the news each day.

Help us save the Boston Globe.

Together, we can keep journalism alive in New England.
